Postlude

Reprise of "Rise Up!"

About Rise Up!

Music is the heart of the Church. It expresses faith in ways that resonate deeply and unite us through shared beauty, passion, and praise. In retirement, I have had more time to explore how music weaves into both life and faith.

Jazz, in particular, is rich with possibilities. Its unique chords—major and minor fifths, sevenths, elevenths, thirteenth, and flat or sharp tones—bring an element of surprise and intrigue. Its rhythms energize, creating excitement within a community. Rise Up! incorporates intriguing jazz chord progressions in various rhythms, including one piece in 9/8 time. The selections include new compositions as well as fresh takes on beloved hymns, designed to be both engaging and singable.

Why call it a Liturgy of Hope? The music and lyrics invite us to encounter the living hope we share in Jesus, the risen Christ. When life's struggles weigh us down, this music lifts our spirits, expressing the gospel's light and reminding us to rise in faith, and trusting in God's unfailing promises.

Jazz was born in New Orleans over a century ago, shaped by both African and European musical traditions. It embodies a fusion of cultures—Black musical expression brought passion, blues, and improvisation, while European influences introduced keyboards, trumpets, saxophones, flutes, and guitars, along with a variety of harmonies and styles.

We inherit this rich musical tradition, and jazz, through its historical connections, serves as a shared legacy. It becomes a testament to our hope for justice and reconciliation, especially in Christ. May this music be a light in the world, proclaiming the good news that with God, all things are possible.
